BLACK HISTORY MONTH

Today's Black Brilliance info is about Harriet Tubman. Harriet was a slave in Maryland who became known as the "Moses" of her people and the "conductor" who led hundreds of enslaved Blacks to freedom in Canada along the Underground Railroad in the 1850s. When angry slave owners offered rewards for her capture, she continued her work despite great personal risk. Harriet Tubman became a leader in the Abolitionist movement.

Come contribute to a collaborative poster for Black History Month in the library! If you are interested in colouring one of the 25 pages that highlight Black Canadians, take one from the big table, colour it, cut out the image according to the instructions, and bring back to Ms. Hlina. We will be putting the poster together in the foyer as coloured pages are returned.
